At Alstom, your data privacy is essential.

The protection of your personal data is a fundamental right set forth in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, and a key principle of our Code of Ethics.

“Alstom and each of its employees must be particularly attentive to laws and regulations concerning privacy and protection of information concerning individuals, employees or third parties, and comply with them.

Alstom does not communicate personal information to third parties, except to the extent necessary and permitted by applicable laws or regulations.

As Alstom employees, you may have access to another person’s personal data only if your function and responsibility specifically include the handling of personal data. The right of access is restricted according to the nature and scope of the individual function and responsibility.”

– Alstom Code of Ethics

As a normal part of our business activities, Alstom is required to collect and use some of your personal data. In doing so, Alstom is committed to protecting your privacy by preserving the security, integrity, and confidentiality of each individual’s personal data. Alstom strives to comply with any applicable data protection laws and regulations in all countries in which Alstom is present and doing business. In particular, Alstom ensures full compliance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679 of 27 April 2016 (the “EU GDPR”) and any applicable national data protection laws.

The main categories of persons whose personal data are collected and processed are:

- Employees
- Job Applicants
- Business Partners (customers and suppliers)

Data Privacy Notices have been issued for each of these categories and are available on the Alstom website here.

“Personal data” means any information relating to you as an identified or identifiable individual, whether directly or indirectly (e.g., your first name, last name, email address). The information can be either private or professional as well as IT connection data.

As the data “Controller” pursuant to the EU GDPR, Alstom determines the purposes and means of the processing of your personal data. “Processing” means any operation which is performed on your personal data, from the point of collection up to and including the final destruction or deletion of the data.

ALSTOM Transport SA, a French société anonyme, having its registered office in France, at 48 rue Albert Dhalenne, 93400 Saint-Ouen is the Controller for the Alstom Group (“ATSA”). It is responsible for all processing activities and serves as the main contact point with our lead supervisory authority (the French CNIL - Commission Nationale de l'Informatique et des Libertés) and the data protection supervisory authorities. ATSA will work with local Alstom’s affiliates/subsidiaries for compliance with specific local rules related to local processing of your personal data. Alstom’s affiliates/subsidiaries may act as Joint Controllers, depending on the nature of the processing and the autonomy of these entities.

Alstom’s guiding principles with regard to your personal data are:

Transparency

Alstom will always process your personal data lawfully, fairly, and in a transparent manner. You have the right to know who, where, what, and why Alstom is processing your personal data.

Proportionality

Alstom collects your personal data for specified, explicit, and legitimate purposes only or to comply with our legal obligations. Your personal data are not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with these purposes.

Necessity

Alstom will only collect and process your personal data limited to what is adequate, relevant, and necessary in relation to the business purpose.

Your personal data are kept accurate, up to date (where necessary), and in a form which permits your identification only for the period of time necessary for the purposes for which they are processed.

Alstom ensures that appropriate security, integrity, and confidentiality measures are implemented within Alstom, using appropriate technical and organisational measures, to provide protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage.

As a multinational group, Alstom has a legitimate interest in transmitting your personal data within the Alstom Group, to affiliates/subsidiaries located all around the world (e.g., for internal administrative purposes). Alstom may also need to outsource some services to external service providers located outside the European Union. In these cases of international transfer, Alstom ensures that appropriate safeguards are duly implemented in order to provide an adequate level of protection to your personal data.

Pursuant to the EU GDPR, you have the right to access, rectify, and/or, in certain circumstances, erase any of your personal data that could be held by Alstom, and/or to restrict or object to the processing of your personal data. You have the right to data portability, only if applicable. Also, when you have given us consent to the processing of your personal data, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. Should you wish to exercise these rights, or should you have any questions related to data privacy, please kindly contact our Ethics & Compliance Department at data.privacy@alstomgroup.com.

When you contact us, Alstom strives to give you full satisfaction when it comes to the protection of your personal data. Nevertheless, should you remain dissatisfied, you are also entitled to contact any competent data protection supervisory authority, such as the CNIL (Commission Nationale de l’Informatique et des Libertés) in France.

---

Alstom Data Privacy Charter

Ethics & Compliance – Data Privacy – 6 December 2018
LGL-WMS-026 – Rev B
The Alstom Data Privacy Charter must be communicated to every Alstom employee and be available on the alstom.com website, with a special care to people directly handling sensitive personal data. It is available on the Alstom Management System (AMS).